FIND YOUR CAREER PATH

If you are considering a public service career, the New York State Unified Court System (court system) offers varied and rewarding career options, competitive salaries and excellent benefits. Once employed by the court system, you will also find many opportunities to advance your career.

The fundamental mission of the court system is to promote the rule of law and to serve the public by providing just and timely resolution of all matters before the courts. Integral to accomplishing its mission are the 16,000 dedicated Judges and non-judicial employees. As a team, they ensure the successful operation of the courts and deliver outstanding service to the public in one of the busiest court systems in the world.

Throughout New York State, court employees work in many interesting positions providing administrative and operational support in courtrooms and support offices in fields such as security, interpreting, reporting and legal and social services. Outside the courtroom setting, court employees provide professional support in fields such as technology, human resources, finance and management.

The Court System Selects Qualified Candidates through:

- The civil service system for competitive positions;
- Job postings and interviews for non-competitive positions; and
- Personal appointments of Judges to certain positions (e.g., Law Clerk to Judge)

This brochure provides information on the application process and outlines career progression through the competitive Civil Service Exam process, legal, managerial and administrative professions. The brochure also illustrates career ladders within job series and outlines opportunities to move between series.

Civil Service Exams: Merit and Fitness-based Selection

The civil service system was adopted by the federal and state governments in response to the hiring practices of the 'spoils' system. Civil service tests were created to make the hiring and promotion process fair by basing the hiring and promotion solely on test-takers' performance on these tests. New York State implemented the civil service system in 1894 and mandated that appointments to government positions be made through the competitive civil service examination on the basis of merit and fitness. The mandate applies to positions in government where testing for merit and fitness is feasible. This includes most positions in the court system. Examination announcements for all competitive examinations are posted on the court system's Careers Website nycourts.gov/careers.

Job Postings and the Interview Panel Selection Process

Some titles in the court system are classified as non-competitive. Qualifications for these titles are not assessed by the competitive testing process because it is not feasible or practical to administer a competitive test. Non-competitive employees work in professions such as legal, information technology, human resources and social services. Hiring and promotion is based on job experience and education. Typically, qualifications are evaluated by an interview panel. The interview panel reviews candidates' resumes, conducts interviews and rates candidates on job relevant criteria. Non-competitive positions are advertised on the Careers Website and may also be posted on other recruitment or professional organizations' websites.

Personal Appointments

A small number of positions in the court system are filled as personal appointments. Typically, the appointments are made by judges to titles such as Law Clerk to Judge and Secretary to Judge. Employees in these positions assist individual judges with legal research and analysis and help with casework and legal correspondence. Most vacancies are not posted on the Careers Website and appointments to these positions are at the discretion of the appointing authority.

BENEFITS

The Court System offers employees a satisfying and rewarding career with competitive compensation and comprehensive benefits including:

Professional Growth and Development

Most employees in the court system start their careers by taking a civil service exam. Civil service exams are merit-based tools designed to measure applicants' skills and abilities to successfully perform the job duties for a particular job title. Typically, the format of these exams is multiple-choice questions. Some exams may include components such as an oral exam to measure language skills and/or a simulated exam that measures proficiency in a specific skill.

Which Competitive Exams Are Offered?

Civil service exams are offered in 27 competitive titles including court security titles, court operations titles such as court assistant, court clerk, court interpreter and court reporter and clerical titles such as court office assistant. Employees in these titles work in courtrooms and support offices performing a variety of functions associated with processing criminal, civil, family and probate matters.

Exams are categorized as open-competitive, promotional or both (open-competitive and promotional). There are seven open-competitive exams, 14 promotional exams and six open-competitive/promotional exams offered by the court system:

- Open-Competitive Exams are open to all qualified applicants, including members of the public and court system employees.
- Promotional Exams are limited to court system employees as a path to advance through a job series.
- Open-Competitive and Promotional Exams are open to the public and court system employees. (Separate eligibility lists are created for current competitive employees and the public. Hiring preference is given to court employees from competitive titles who took the exam.)

Exams for each title are usually administered every four years but may be accelerated or deferred based on the operational needs of the court system. Exams are offered on one or two test dates throughout the state.

How Do I Apply to Take a Competitive Exam?

Visit nycourts.gov/careers for exam schedules and information on the application process. Exam applications must be submitted via the website within the period stated on the exam announcement.

What Qualifications Do I Need to Take a Competitive Exam?

Minimum qualifications vary by exam and are based on job requirements. Check the Careers Website for exam specific minimum qualifications.

How Are Tests Scored? How Is Rank Number Assigned?

After a competitive exam is administered, the exam results are analyzed and a passing score is established. Test-takers who pass a competitive exam and meet the minimum qualifications for the position are placed on an eligible list based on their final test performance score (final test scores are adjusted by applicable veterans and/or seniority credits) in rank order. Test-takers with identical exam scores are assigned unique rank numbers but are considered equivalent for canvassing and selection purposes.

I Took a Competitive Exam. How Long Before I Get Exam Results?

Depending on the exam, at a minimum, it takes approximately three months after the written competitive exam to get your test results and rank number. Once the eligible list is established, exam results with test score and rank number will be sent to all test-takers via email. Remember to keep your contact information up-to-date with the court system.

How Do I Identify Where I Want to Work within NY State?

- Location Preference

The candidate will receive a Location Preference form electronically after the list is established to identify locations where they would be willing to work.

- Canvassing

Candidates are contacted in rank order when positions in their preferred locations become available. Candidates with the lowest rank number/highest exam score are contacted first. The candidate must indicate their interest in the position on the Availability Inquiry form. The court system does not pay relocation costs.

- Hiring

Time frame to hire from the eligible lists varies based on location, the number of positions approved to fill and title requirements (e.g., additional title-specific screening). Eligible candidates will be interviewed as part of the selection process*.

Interview selection processes follows Section 61 of the Civil Service Law 'One-in-Three Rule' allowing a panel of court managers to appoint one of the top three scoring candidates from the Eligible List (exception: Court Officer-Trainee is a multi-phase selection process).*
